Affected People Information

1.1 A 3D bomb will be placed in my flat, is that bad?

Not at all.

1.2 Can I see my 3D bomb?

The bomb itself is invisible. But if you are a smartphone user you may have a look at its detonator: Just scan the QR code above or open "www.augmented-bombings.de/fight3Dtrash" in a mobile web browser. Then search your flat for the detonator. (If the app "Layar" was not pre-installed on your device just download it for free from the Android Market or App Store.)

(It may occur very rarely that the bomb is placed incorrectly and the detonator is invisible or dissappointingly small. You can change that! Just let us know your exact GPS location. You can find it by using free smartphone apps such as "GPS Compass".)

1.3 I don't have a smartphone, can I still see the detonator?

Sure. You can build one yourself. Please take our cut out sheet. (In case the sheet has not been delivered to you, you can download it from our website) Then stick the 3D object which you have built with a transparent string to the ceiling.

1.4 Is it only me who is affected?

Well, no. Our layer "Fight 3D trash!" on "Layar" can give you an overview of various bombs placed all over the world. If you don't see them on your smartphone please adjust the filter settings.

1.5 As I said before, I have no smartphone...!

Don't worry. Just have a look at our website "www.augmented-bombings.de". There you can also order 3D bombs - for your friends for example.

1.6 Up to now I got along quite well without any 3D bomb.

Yes, you're totally right. But times are changing. Many people don't even suspect anything is wrong: Slimy Aliens are hanging above their beds, the kitchen is stuffed with tanks and bar girls and a banner sticks above the couch saying: "Watch out! Here lives a sex addict!" And maybe there is a sign at the entrance door telling people when you're on holiday. In the Smartphone-Browser you can see it: The Augmented Reality of your nice flat is littered with obscure 3D objects and abstruse to inconvenient information.

Then what? Hope is all that is left. Hope that it is true what we promise you now: As soon as technically possible, with our 3D detonators you can bomb away all undesirable augmented reality trash in your surroundings.
